

styling measurably changes the image — vanilla vs styled 100.0% —

but it does not move the render to the real frame:

styled vs real still separates at 99.0–100.0% (chance 50.3–64.7%; n = 666–771 per pair)